

Searching for Jimmy Page

begins in the winter of 1988, when Luna Kane's great-grandfather, a self-proclaimed faith healer, claims he hears phantom owls crying in the night. "Them owls, like music. Can you hear the music?" His plea triggers Luna's repressed memory of her dead mother's obsession with Jimmy Page, Led Zeppelin's legendary guitar wizard, and sends her on a pilgrimage from North Carolina to England. Winner, American Writing Awards.

ISBN 978-1-60489-291-8, $19.95

An Art, A Craft, A Mystery,

a novel in verse, tells the stories of two historical women, Lydea Gilbert and Katherine (Kate) Harrison, who lived along the frontier of the Connecticut River in the mid 1600s. They were healers, mid-wives, farmers and ordinary women who faced the struggles and joys of life in a wild new land where feminine power and the value of women's lives was suspect and condemned.

ISBN 978-1-60489-303-8, $18.95

Scan the QR Code or order your copy at livingstonpress.uwa.edu